Steakly Delivery Service began operations during May of the current year. During a short period thereafter, the entity engage the following transactions:

a. Lou Steakley, the owner, deposited $3,500 cash in a bank account entitled Steakley Delivery Service and also invested in the business a delivery truck valued at $8,000.
b. Purchased $40 fuel for the delivery truck, using a business credit card.
c. Paid $100 cash for supplies.
d. Completed a delivery job and received cash, $700.
e. Performed delivery service on account, $3,200.
f. Purchased advertising leaflets for cash, $200.
g. Paid the office manager salary, $950.
h. Received $1,000 cash for performing delivery services.
i. Received cash from customer on account, $1,800.
j. Purchased used office furniture on account, $600.
k. Paid office utility bills, $120.
l. Purchased $70 fuel on account for the truck.
m. Completed a delivery job and received the customer's promise to pay the amount due, $100, within 10 days.
n. Withdrew $1,900 for personal use.

Required: Journalize the transections, post them to ledger and prepare a trial balance.